THE PROMISE FOR A GRAND AFFAIR

Could not be Brighter-An Interesting Meeting of the Big General Comheld Last Evening --- The Make up of the Big Parade in the Afternoon and its Route.

At a meeting held at the rooms of Mr. J. A. Miller, on Market street, last evening, at which all the division marshals and the chief of staff were present, all the arrangements were consumated for the big parade on Columbian day.

Among those present were Mr. Augustus Pollack, Capt. W. H. Travis, Dr. H. B. Baguley, Mr. B. Bach, Capt. W. T. Otto, Mr. Frank Gruse, Mr. H. A.

H. B. Baguley, Mr. B. Bach, Capt. W. T. Otto, Mr. Frank Gruse, Mr. H. A. Schrebe, Mr. G. S. Feeney and Mr. Roman Dobler. Mr. J. A. Miller officiated as chairman and Mr. G. S. Feeney acted in the capacity of secretary.

A number of communications were received and read from different organizations, stating their desire to participate in the parade, all of which were acted upon, and positions in the line were assigned to each body.

It's expected from the number of organizations that have reported that over 4,000 men will be in line. Among this great body of marchers will be interspersed numerous floats and musical organizations, which will make one of the most picturesque and largest parades ever given in the city.

The public school alone will have over 500 scholars in line, each carrying a flag, which will be one of the most attractive features. Besides the four handsome floats furnished by the city, representing the three ships of Columbus and his landing, the Red Men will have a handsome emblematic float representing their organization, the Trades Assembly will have one representing taborers supporting the earth; the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, a large float modeled after a railroad engine; the Grocers' Association two floats showing the difference in 1422 and 1892 in the grocery line; Reyman's Brewing Company several floats; H. F. Behrens a big steamship, besides countless floats by different business houses, and various societies and clubs. None of the political organizations

None of the political organizations will be permitted to carry any mottos of a political nature. Only the banners showing the names of the clubs will be allowed to be carried in the All of the division marshals will meet

All of the division marshas will meet promptly at 1 p. m., at the rooms of the Board of Education and report to the chief of staft. All organizations are requested to meet promptly at their assigned forming place in order that the parade can move promptly.

Only the chairmen and a few interested spectators were present. Nothing of special importance was transacted outside of hearing the reports of the various chairmen. Mr. Frank Jepson presided, with Eugene Hanke as secretary.

Mr. Peter Farrell, chairman of the transportation committee, said that all the railroads entering the city would give half rates to visitors.

The committee on printing, by Mr. Joseph Emsheimer, chairman, stated that 100 fine badges had been secured, which would be distributed by him to the various committees, whose names were printed on them.

Mr. W. W. Irwin, chairman of the committee on music, reported that four bands had been engaged and ordered to report promptly at one o'clock at the Public Library building, where they will be assigned to their positions by the marshals.

The committee on street decorations, Mr. D. H. Bayha, chairman, reported that flue street displays were in good

The committee on street decorations, Mr. D. H. Bayha, chairman, reported that all the street displays were in good shape, and the erection of the different arches would be started to-day. The floats were well advanced, the frame work and covering being completed and painting half finished, two scenic artists having been secured from the Grand Opera House, Pittsburgh, to assist the local artists employed by Mr. Kurner, who has the contract. All the costumes for the assistants to take charge of the float, arrived last ovening from of the float, arrived last evening from

St. Louis.

A special call for these sixty assist-A special call for these sixty assistants was made by postal, to meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the city building. The appropriation of $500 not being sufficient to cover the cost of the floats, the committee went ahead in order to complete the work and expended $150 more. The extra expense, which was overlooked in making the appropriation, was unanimously endorsed by the general committee.

Mr. Farrell stated that eight carriages had been secured for the invited guests, and will report at one o'clock at the city building.

Chairman Jepson, of the committee on orations, read communications from a number of prominent gentlemen who had been invited to speak, three of whom had accepted, Judge G. L. Cranmer, Prosecuting Attorney John A. Howard and Mr. Melville D. Post, of Harrison county.

Howard and Mr. Melville D. Post, of Harrison county.

Bishop Peterkin, of Parkersburg, was invited, but could not be reached on account of being away from home. Bishop Bowman sent his best wishes and declined on account of being otherwise engaged. Rt. Rev. Bishop Kain sent a communication thanking the committee and stating that he would be in Chicago on that day.

Hon, A. W. Campbell and Judge R. H. Cochran both declined on account of being otherwise engaged.

the evening at the north end of the city building.

No reports were made by the executive and finance coumittees. All the fireworks have been received, and every thing is in good shape for the display to take place at the foot of Twelfth street on the river front. Over 6,000 invitations have been sent out, and everything points to a big success. All the reports were accepted with thanks, and the committees retained.

All of the members were enthusiastic over the prospects of the event, and all predicted an immense crowd of strangers in the city on that day.

Wheelmen In It.

Quite a number of wheelmen in this vicinity have signified their willingness to participate in the Columbian celebration, and will meet at 1314 Market street this evening to perfect arrangements. Any that cannot be present at the meeting will please notify Chief Consul Stamp, so that a position may be assigned them. All wheels must be decorated and ready when the proces-sion, begins to move. They will form on Fourteenth street.

The Tariff Students.

The Tariff Students.

At a meeting of the W. L. Wilson Tariff students last evening it was decided after some discussion to turn out in the Columbian Day parade on Friday. C. F. Wagner resigned as third lieutenant, and Robert Sheppard was elected to the vacancy. W. P. Adams was made fourth lieutenant. Michael G. Warner was made third sergeant and W. C. Martin fourth sergeant.

St. Stanislaus' Society. The Polish society of the church of the Immaculate Conception, of the South Side, are making arrangements to turn out in the Columbian parade. They have ordered a very handsome new banner, which will be displayed on that day for the first time. The banner that day for the first time is a silk one and will cost one hundred and fifty dollars. The Usual Story.

New York, Oct. 19 .- It is asserted at the Democratic national headquarters that efforts are being made to colonize a large number of negroes in various parts of this state, particularly in the interior. LE CARON, THE SPY.

The Startling Revelations Alleged to Have Been Made.

PRESIDENT ANDREW JOHNSON

Said to Have Given Assistance to the Fenian Movement to Invade Canada. A Scene at the White House-Clan-Na-Gael Plots to Blow Up Parliament--- A Secret Circular.

LONDON, Oct. 19 .- The reminiscences of Dr. LeCaron, the spy for the British government, who gained such unfavorable notoriety in 1820 by his disclosures on behalf of the Times before the Parnell commission, have been made pub-

In regard to the projected Fenian invasion of Canada he declares that when he and General O'Neill were received at the white house in Washington by President Johnson, the President told General O'Neill that he sympathized with the Fenians and was willing to do all in his power to assist the Fenian all in his power to assist the Fenian movement. "You must remember," said President Johnson, "that I gave you full five days before issuing the proclamation stopping you. In God's name, what more did you want? If you could not get there in five days, by—, you could never get there. And then as President, I was compelled to enforce the neutrality laws or be denounced on every side."

every side."

Le Caron describes to the utmost detail the whole Fenian movement against Canada, showing how he became actions of any imquainted with every man of any im-portance connected with the movement, and only twice was he in danger of dis-covery. One occasion was when he took and only twice was he in danger of discovery. One occasion was when he took down the names of Fenians in his note book. He was denounced, tried and acquitted by his comrades, and secured a strong position. The dramatic character of the narrative is enhanced by the spectacle of the devoted care with which the Fenians watched over Le Caron and preserved him from harm.

Le Caron says the Clan-na-Gael's wild plans include a treaty with Russia to manufacture a submarine torpedo boat to inflict terrible damage on the British navy; a plot to assassinate the queen, to inflict terrible damage on the British navy; a plot to assassinate the queen, kidnap the prince of Wales and rescue Michael Davitt from prison. In describing an interview with Parnell in Parliament, he declares that Parnell's remarks were a bombshell to him. He says: "Parnell confessed his belief that nothing but the force of arms would accomplish the final redemption of Irecomplish the final redemption of Ire-land. He went carefully into details on the league's resources for an open movement of insurrection and that they had £100,000 in the treasury. He dis-cussed the position of home and Amer-ican revolutionary organizations and recommended the American policy.

recommended the American policy.

Le Caron then gives the text of a secret circular prepared for a dynamite campaign in the event of Mr. Gladstone's home rule scheme being inadquate. He gives a graphic account of Egan's clever escape from the country after the Phenix Park murders. He says Egan was the last person in the world one would take for a conspirator. world one would take for a conspirator. In regard to the Irish-American agitator he says: "Gold is his god and his breviary. He attains his ends by jobbery, trickery and delusion of the most despicable type. He braves and blusteringly advocates desperate enterprises from the distance of 3,000 miles." Le Caron says that Dr. Gallaher, who controlled the dynamite campaign, was often in Parliament, and he heard, had been introduced to Mr. Gladstone. One plot devised was to blow up Parliament by throwing bombs in front of the speaker.
